TO REPORTERS: You have doubtless observed my offer of the Register ten weeks for ten cents. I am relying upon you to make this offer known as widely as possible in your respective neighborhoods to the end that the Register may go into every house in the county during these ten weeks. LEANNA.

DISSON COUNTRY, Reporter.

Chas. Carpenter and family visited relatives in Moran Sunday and Monday.

Mr. Snodgrass returned from Butler county last Tuesday.

Dr. Courtney went to Savonburg on business Tuesday.

Lida Fullem is quite sick this week. The storm Sunday evening came near developing into a cyclone. No damage was done in this immediate vicinity but southwest of here it blew George Jordan's barn and house and granary partly off of their foundations. And still farther south it tore the shingles off of Capt. Newton's barn.

The fourth of July celebration at Capt. Gibson's Grove was a success. The crowd was probably not as large as it would have been had there not been so many celebrations so close around. Rev. Stafford of Chanute and Rev. Ingles of this place delivered two of the best addresses we have ever heard. Rev. Stafford is surely a fine orator and Rev. Ingles is as good. The band furnished some excellent music. In the base ball game between Leanna and Shaw Leanna got gloriously snowed under and the next day it rained.

A. W. Alford's little girl who was sick, died Wednesday at 2 o'clock, aged 7 yr. 5 mo. and 29 days. Once again we are reminded that this is not our abiding place by the removal from this world of one of the brightest and sweetest of Heaven's treasures but she has gone to the one who said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ingles and the remains were buried in the Leanna cemetery.

NORTH MAPLE GROVE.

MISS S. G. JORDAN, Reporter.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Newton Cazine last week was a shock to all the neighborhood, although only in our midst comparatively a short time she was loved by all whom she met and she had many friends to mourn her death and who sympathize with the family and husband.

Mr. Fethergill is very poorly again from applying medicine to his face.

Mr. Ball had what might have been a very destructive fire on the evening of the third. They had gone home from the celebration to do the evening work and hurry back to the fire works, leaving the spring wagon close to the crib and barn and the little girl going out to get in it found it on fire, running to the house and told them, they ran out and pulled it out and kept anything else from the flames. The loss of the spring wagon and contents was about $25. Results of fire crackers.

freshed from Normal work and examination by visiting Miss Ella Ball. Miss Anna Fethergill went to Moran to visit and celebrate.

As a general thing when Mr. R. E. Fullenwider comes to town he comes early in the morning, visits with his friends about town and goes home in the cool of the evening. Monday, however, he came in, went to the post office and called for his mail and started straight for home. Some of his friends wondered at this unusual proceeding and hailed him and asked what was the matter. Ed halted long enough to say that it is a boy and weighs nine pounds, and away he went with a grin on his face like a sundown possum.

of this place and very highly respected. The groom has been one of our bachelors for the past two years, so we are sure he will enjoy married life to its highest extent. The other evening we heard him singing, "There's no place like home," and it was sung as if it was felt. Miss Ollie, one of our pleasing young ladies, was dressed in pink cashmere with trimmings of white lace and pink ribbon and made a very pretty bride. The groom was dressed in the usual black. The young people made a short visit in Bartlett and then returned to their home in this neighborhood. We with their many friends extend our highest congratulations.

Mrs. Sharp preached quite an interesting sermon at Jeddo last Sunday.

Miss Nora Starkey visited friends and relatives in our neighborhood last Saturday and Sunday.

All of the people of our neighborhood celebrated their Fourth at Humboldt except Mr. and Mrs. Whit Boyer, who celebrated at Leanna.

Mrs. G. V. Seymour is on the sick list this week.

NEOSHO VALLEY.

C. L. ARNOLD, Reporter.

John Preston and wife came back from New York about two weeks ago. They had been there about a year and a half and would have remained some longer had it not been that there was a rapid decline in Mr. P.'s health which made it necessary for him to return home.

A new girl put in an appearance at B. F. Clark's on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. McFarland of Iola was visiting her sister Mrs. Margaret Williams the past week.

Miss Nettie Mosier of Bourbon county came over to celebrate at Iola.

Several houses in Union neighborhood were entered on Saturday and small articles of value taken.

HUMBOLDT.

A. W. CUNNINGHAM, Reporter.

Humboldt stole a march on the weather prophet this year and held her celebration on the 3rd. As a result she had an almost perfect day in which to celebrate. The wind was somewhat annoying but it tempered the heat of the sun, and so was not out of place. The people began coming in early in the morning and did not stop until dusk. The parade came off on time and was the best ever seen in this county. Nearly every business house in town had a float in line and many of them were highly artistic. J. Barrachman had an old log cabin representing "Home Sweet Home," that attracted the attention of all. Tholen & Achter, S. C. Brett, Cunningham & Son, B. S. Smith, E. H. Leitzbach, H. Bragg, Coan & Kinney, The Racket, O. H. Brown, each had floats. Geo. Hettlinger placed five of his St. Bernard dogs on a wagon and appeared to have a cage full of lions. The bicyclists were out in full force with their wheels prettily decorated and the Cuban army was there. Ex-Senator Martin was unable to come but his place was filled admirably. The bicycle races were somewhat disastrous to the Humboldt boys, but they wanted to be polite anyway. Bert Goshorn of Iola won the half-mile novice race and Jesse Hendricks of Cherryvale won the mile and half-mile open races. The prize for the boys race was awarded to Crum of Humboldt.
